

Call for applications

AMSE European Summer School and Workshop on the Chinese Economy

Aix en Provence
Faculty of Economics
Aix-Marseille University

July 16th-20th 2012

Organisers:

Eric Girardin
AMSE-AMU

& Harry X. Wu
IER, Hitotsubashi University, Tokyo

Network support:

Chinese Economic Association (C.E.A.) Europe
EDGE: European Doctorate Group in Economics

The school will offer Ph. D. students exposure to world class experts holding diverse views on the current major macroeconomic issues in the Chinese economy, and intensively engage these experts in the discussion of their research projects. Areas covered include institutional issues, macroeconomic measurement and modeling, as well the major risks in the banking and real estate sectors. Each of the first four days will include two formal lectures followed by one session with presentations and discussions of students' papers. In addition a workshop will be held on the Friday including the best papers presented by students.

Lecturers will be given by:

Masahiko Aoki, Stanford University
Yongheng DENG, National University of Singapore
Alicia GARCIA-HERRERO Chief Economist, Emerging markets, BBVA
likka KORHONEN, BOFIT, Central Bank of Finland
Harry X. Wu, IER, Hitotsubashi University, Tokyo

Subsidized accommodation will be provided, but travel expenses are not covered. Lunches will be offered and no fee will be charged.

Applications including a CV and a full paper on monetary, financial and international macroeconomic issues, possibly with comparative aspects should be sent by May 31st to diane.djenderedjian@univ-amu.fr and eric.girardin@univ-amu.fr