

Call for Papers

Special Issue of the Journal of Chinese Economic and Business Studies

On Corporate Finance and Corporate Governance in China

Special Issue Editor: Dr Jian Chen

(University of Nottingham, jian.chen@nottingham.ac.uk)

The past 30 year in China has witnessed tremendous development in the way of corporations making their financial decisions. China now is the economy with the record high financing activities in global financial history. In order to add fresh academic insights into the new financial territories, this special issue invites high quality, original studies related to corporate finance and governance in China for publication in early 2012. Contributions can be of a theoretical, empirical. Topical areas of interest include, but are not limited to:

- Capital structure
- Cost of capital
- Debt and financial distress
- Dividend policy
- Initial public offerings of equity
- Ownership and control
- Corporate governance
 - Corporate board
 - Managerial incentives
- Merge, acquisition and restructuring

Submission: Authors should submit papers electronically (MS Word or PDF format) to Dr Jian Chen. The first page of the paper should contain the title; name of the author(s), address, telephone, fax numbers and E-mail addresses. All submitted papers must include an abstract explaining the contribution of the paper. For more information about the editorial policy, please go to the journal's website: <http://www.ceauk.org.uk/publications/>

The deadline for submission is 31 August 2011.